KAUIANS AID
SALVATIONISTSDedication of the New Army
Hall Attended by Hundreds of People.

Surely God is good! Our projected visit with the band to Kauai was very nearly postponed. Mrs. Wood was being driven down town by Mrs. DeRose, one of our Maui soldiers who was in the city, when the horse was scared by a steam roller in the center of the city, and dashing away madly, threw the whole party out on the road. How they escaped being killed is a wonder to all, and more marvelous still, they escaped without even a bone broken; bruises and the shock to their nerves being the extent of the damage. Truly, underneath were the Everlasting Arms.

In two or three days they were around and about again and able to travel, so that we could take the trip as planned. On Tuesday evening our party of eleven Salvationists boarded the W. G. Hall. The officers and comrades on the wharf seemed very sorry to see us go, but the knowledge that we would be back in twelve days I think alleviated their sorrow somewhat.

Owing to the big storm which had raged for two weeks the steamer had been running irregularly, so that our Kauai friends didn't know just when or where to expect us, so that when we reached Nawiliwili after a very nice trip, there was no one to meet us. Had, of course, no arrangements made, and it was 3 a. m. Our kind friend, W. H. Rice, Jr., however, came to our assistance, and drove us all up on the stage to his hotel and after providing us with some hot coffee to warm ourselves with, after standing around in the cold night air, at daybreak he provided us with a stage, and we were driven over to Koloa, eleven miles away. Here, Captain Lewis and Cadet Hellesath were glad to see us and be sure we were really on hand.

Our stop here, however, was only of short duration. After having our physical needs supplied and leaving Mrs. Wood and Freddie behind in the kind care of Brother and Sister Perler, the band set off for Waimea. This time it was a seventeen mile drive, and we were pretty well tired out by the time we got there, and very glad to find that no meeting had been arranged for that evening.

The large hall had been taken for our meeting the next night in Waimea, and we had about two hundred people present, which is the biggest crowd we have had in a hall for a long time. We had a very good meeting.

Mr. Gay kindly lent us a team and rig to take us over to Makaweli, where we had a good crowd in the Social Hall the following evening. The band did well, and everybody expressed themselves as delighted. As usual, they gave a fine collection, Mrs. Morrison, the manager's wife, kindly sending down a donation towards our expenses.

Early next morning we started on our return journey to Koloa, and upon arrival there found plenty for our hands to do. The storm of the past two weeks had delayed the building, and in spite of the almost superhuman efforts of Captains Lewis and Jensen, and the comrades, to have everything in something like ship-shape order, there were still many things needing to be done. Those who were carpenters and those who were not speedily found work to do and did it. We had no inside meeting at night, but the open-air was grand, a very large crowd stood around and listened to the music and testimonies of the band and others.

The next was a very busy day for all concerned. A luau, or lunch, was got up for the visitors, who came from all around. Shortly after 1 o'clock we were able to get off for our open-air service and march. The band was reinforced by two of our Koloa friends, Messrs. Blake and Kapahae, and they were a big help to us. From our open-air we marched back to the new hall for the opening ceremonies. While the band played a selection two of the Koloa lasses hoisted the Army flag to the head of the pole and opened its beautiful folds to the breeze. Then on behalf of the corps Captain Lewis handed the key to Mrs. Wood, and declaring the building to be opened for the worship of God and the salvation of sinners, she turned the key in the lock and the crowd passed through for the first meeting in the new hall.

What a crowd that first one was! Almost all nationalities were represented, and there seemed to be as many outside as there was inside. All the leading officials of the plantation were present, including the manager and his wife. The latter kindly entertained the D. O. and his family while in Koloa, and in many other ways Mr. McLean has shown himself to be a real friend. In the brief financial statement which we gave out during the meeting it was shown that $1,082 had been raised and expended on the building and fixing the new hall and quarters. There was still something like $225 necessary to clear on the unpaid bills and finish hall, and towards this some $90 was raised in these meetings, which with $55 in promises, left only the sum of $200 to be raised for the corps to be out of debt.

Captain Lewis deserves great credit for this nice little addition to Army property. From the first he saw the need and made up his mind to get a hall of our own, and after twenty months he is handsomely rewarded by the realization of his hopes. We must also give due credit to Captain Jensen, Cadet Hellesath, Brothers Perler, Spaulding, Buckley, Moffat and others for their hard and faithful toil. I know they all feel repaid by the sight of that cosy little hall, seating 200, and the seven-room cottage in the rear, the most comfortable Army quarters in the Islands. We are believing that our friends will see to it that it is properly furnished throughout.

The meetings all through the week were well attended, and we had two souls forward for salvation. We finished up with a lovely soldiers' meeting and tea on Thursday night. It was a heaven-on-earth time, and I am believing that our work in Kauai will advance more rapidly than ever.

On Friday we drove over to Lihue with the intention of having a meeting, but the lovely weather which we had had so far, now deserted us, and the rain came down without cessation, in torrents, making a meeting out of the question. We were not sorry, however, to have a night off, especially as we were all in the hands of 4-00 friends, who looked after us in the most hospitable fashion. Next day we boarded the steamer Hanaia for home, and without any further adventures, our band's first trip abroad was ended.

On Sunday evening I had the great pleasure of commissioning beneath the flag our first Hawaiian-born officer, Brother David Lyman. He was saved at the Army penitentiary in Hilo over two years ago, and since then has been a faithful soldier and local officer in the Hilo and Honolulu corps. He goes away to Koloa, where he will assist Captain Lewis, with the prayers and well wishes of his comrades. Brother Herbert Carroll also says goodbye to Honolulu, and sailed on the steamer Niihau, with Cadet Lyman. He is the fourth boy I have had the joy of sending out to work for God in the Islands, and will assist Captain Jensen at Waimea. Cadet Hellesath, of Koloa, goes to Wailuku, while Lieutenant McLead of that place proceeds to Hilo, where he will take charge pro tem, Captain Gillette's health making a furlough absolutely necessary. — War Cry.

White Lotus Day

The members of the Aloha branch of the Theosophical Society are preparing to celebrate tomorrow, as it is customary in all branches on the globe, the anniversary of the White Lotus Day. An interesting program with music has been prepared, and through the kindness of E. C. Rowe, the meeting will be held in Foster Hall on Nuuanu street, as in previous years. The program will begin at 8 o'clock in the evening. The exercises will be public, and all persons interested will be welcome. No invitations will be issued, and the public generally are invited to attend.

DIDN'T WANT TO BE ROBBEDAged Inebriate Objects to Jim
Kupihea Going Through His Pockets.

He was an oldish man, wearing seedy clothes and a brand new jag. The latter was the most prominent feature about him. He came to the police station yesterday afternoon under protest, accompanied by a police officer and landed at the clerk's desk.

"What's your name?"
"Look here, you fellows; I don't know what you've brought me here for, and so I ain't goin' to stay," was the inebriate's reply.

"Oh, yes, you are. What's your name?"

"See here, you can't bluff me—I tell you I ain't goin' to stay here!"

At this juncture big Jim Kupihea loomed up in front of the staggering prostrate. Jim laid his hands gently on the man, who instantly flung them off. Jim laid his hands on the man again, this time not so gently, and they remained there. Inserting a thumb and forefinger in the man's upper vest pocket he quickly extracted a paper or two. The inebriate made a vicious lunge at Jim, shouting, "Look here, you can't rob me! I won't let you do it. This feller's robbing me, and I want you two as witnesses. I'll hold you responsible. I've got money on my person, and I don't intend to let you lay your hands on me or put them in my pockets, either."

Jim reached for other pockets and the drunken man attempted to resist the searching process, when Apana, the Chinese policeman, pinioned his arms from behind. Jim then got all the man's wealth out of his pockets, and was about to take him below to a cell when the talkative drunk said no man could take him down below. Just for answer Jim took the man by the collar with his right hand, lifted him off the ground, and steadying him with his left, carried him to a cell in the twinkling of an eye. Scenes of this kind happen every day in the station house.

THE FIVE ROESCH ORPHANS
CARED FOR BY W. K. AZBILL

WE PRESENT this morning a picture of the five Roesch children, whose mother died a month ago and whose father, Charles Roesch, the contractor, passed away at the Queen's Hospital April 23d. They are Miss Jessie, age 19; Charles, age 6; Gertrude, age 4; Louis, age 2, and Irvine, age 14 months.

At the request of the Rev. Mr. Cory, pastor of the Christian Church, of which Miss Jessie is a member, and with the approval of the president of the Protective League, which stands ready to lend aid when necessary, the Rev. W. K. Azbill took charge of the orphans and their affairs. On last Friday morning, through the kindness of Mr. John Ena, of the Inter-Island Steamship Company, they went as free passengers aboard the Mauna Loa to Kona, being in charge of Miss Alice F. Beard, promoter of the Hawaiian Orphanage and Industrial Schools Association. They will for the present occupy a cottage on the premises of the orphanage built by Miss Beard's father for her special use. But a cottage will probably be erected for them shortly, as it is Mr. Azbill's wish to keep the little family together, that the affections natural to brothers and sisters may continue and be strengthened by association and by education in the same school. There are friends of the bereaved little ones on the Coast whose wishes must be consulted before final decisions are reached touching their future; but in the meanwhile it is gratifying to note that, through Christian kindness they are promptly and adequately provided for.
